Pro Bono Mentoring Resources

The Court has partnered with two experienced attorneys who are willing to consult with court recruited counsel on their civil cases.

Mark W. Sniderman

Mark W. Sniderman represents prisoners and detainees who seek appropriate medical care or who are challenging other conditions of their confinement. He also represents people who seek to assert their voting rights, employees who have been wrongfully discriminated against at their workplace, and victims of medical malpractice. He has been practicing law since 2006.

Mark earned his B.S. in political science and philosophy from the University of Wisconsin – Madison. He matriculated at U.C. Hastings College of the Law, and then transferred to Indiana University School of Law – Indianapolis, from which he received his J.D.

Mark is a past chair of the executive committee of the Civil Rights Section of the American Association of Justice, and a member of the National Lawyers Guild, the National Police Accountability Project, and the Indianapolis Bar Association. He is admitted to practice in the State of Indiana, the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit and the United States District Courts for the Southern and Northern Districts of Indiana, and the Western District of Michigan.

The United States District Court for the Southern District of Indiana has contracted with Mark to provide training, legal consultation, and other assistance to attorneys recruited by the Court to represent plaintiffs in civil prison-related claims pursuant to Local Rule 87. Recruited Counsel and attorneys considering volunteering to accept an appointment are invited to reach out to Mark with questions.

Mark can be reached at: INSDRecruitedCounselAssistance@gmail.com.

William G. Hussmann, Jr.

William G. Hussmann, Jr., former U.S. Magistrate Judge for the Southern District of Indiana, has volunteered to answer court recruited attorneys' questions regarding practicing in the Southern District of Indiana and settlement. Mr. Hussmann can be contacted at (812) 474-4400, ext. 6317 and whussmann@k-glawn.com.

The Southern District of Indiana is pleased to provide this resource to lawyers appearing pursuant to Local Rule 87.
